

Seminar: Current Problems of Social and Fiscal Policy (Aktuelle Probleme der Sozial- und Finanzpolitik)

Sports Economics

The Institute of Public Economics II (Prof. Dr. A. Prinz) offers a seminar on 'Sports Economics' in the summer semester of 2019.

The seminar can be attended by students of the master program in economics (VWL). Course assessment is possible for 'Empirical Public Economics' and 'Seminar Public Economics' in the master program PO 2010 and PO 2012.

A preliminary meeting will be held on 4th of April 2019 at 3 pm. The date of the seminar presentations will be the 23th/24th of May 2019. All appointments take place at the Institute of Public Economics, Wilmergasse 6-8, 48143 Münster.

There are 20 seminar places. Registrating for the seminar is possible from now until 03.04.2019. If more than 20 students want to registrate for the seminar, the participants will be selected by the institute's staff. Note that you also have to registrate for the seminar at the Examination Office. Participation in the seminar will not be possible without registration.

Topics will be announced at the preliminary meeting. Each student will be given a scientific article regarding sports economics, which has to be summarized. This will be the only written assignment for the students. Processing time will be around six weeks. The deadline for submissions will be Friday, the 17th of May 2019. To pass the seminar, students must succeed both in writing a seminar paper and presenting the paper in the seminar.

Please consider the general information on writing seminar papers. These can be found on the homepage of the institute (<http://www.wiwi.uni-muenster.de/iff2/>).
